BALANCED NEWS. FEARLESS VIEWS

MAJOR PRACTICE FOR 11TH INDEPENDENCE DAY The rain does not dampen the spirit of the Annual Parade of the Philippine National Police as they show the prowess in part of preparations for the celebration of Independence Day on Sunday. The first Independence Day celebration of President Aquino will be the largest since it began with only one that instead of the traditional parade float in the past years. (Story on Page A2)

Opposition plan to probe P-Noy buddies shot down

By Marivic Bantolera and Cynthia D. Ibarra

THE PLAN of the House of Representatives' minority bloc to investigate alleged improprieties of President Aquino's friends is to be shelved. The House Speaker, now a representative of the ruling coalition, President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, according to Malacañang.

In a statement issued early yesterday, the President's spokesperson, Edwina Lacierda, said the Arroyo, now a representative of the ruling coalition, President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo, appeared to be afraid that "an independent investigation" would even be considered, and that her "friendship" after wanted to "do something to divert attention from these issues."

OPPOSED PLAN

GMA House allies also taunted 'KKK'

By Cynthia D. Ibarra and Jerome Rosing

LOOK who's talking. House Minority Leader Nene Henson yesterday said the opposition lawmakers who wanted some of President Aquino's "buddies" to be investigated by Congress were themselves "KKK."

Stop search for oil, sans permission, says envoy

By Julia B. Salaverria

VOWING to assert sovereignty in the disputed Spratly Islands, China yesterday warned its neighbors to stop searching for oil in the contested region without its permission.

The warning came amid a report from Taiwan that China, for the second time in two weeks, yesterday launched a US Navy vessel conducting oil surveys within Taiwan's exclusive zone.

CA orders banks to freeze assets of alleged carnal leaders, parents

By Marivic Bantolera

THE COURT of Appeals has ordered several banks to temporarily freeze the accounts and assets of the alleged leaders of a sex cult and their parents.

The court issued the order after a hearing on the matter. The court found that the alleged leaders of the sex cult had engaged in illegal activities.

The court also ordered the banks to freeze the assets of the parents of the alleged leaders of the sex cult.

Bicol Express back June 29

By Marivic Bantolera

PNR will allow a representative to develop its operations, the Bureau of Railroads has decided.

The Bicol Express train will be back in service on June 29, after a two-month suspension.

The PNR hopes that the resumed line would allow commuters a more convenient mode of transport.

JPE: Cha-cha must be debated when sessions resume in July

By T. J. Sargison

CLAYTON (change) — That should be on the agenda of the next regular session of the 110th Congress, but it should be limited to fixing the monetary, economic programs in the Constitution, said House President Juan Ponce de León.

Butler said he and Speaker William Belmont Jr. had agreed in principle on the need to make amendments to the Constitution to the recognition of Congress's power to levy

"We don't care, till it is a token that is weighed enough to discuss this," Burke said.

He said he used to be a member but yet to save the money with those dues. Again.

little agreed, however, that the future change in law should be confined to constitutional provisions limiting foreign ownership of certain industries, and would exclude proposals to revise the country's political structure.

No. 1000

Let's not talk about the positions of the president, vice president, the secretary, congressman, governor and mayor. Let's not change that," he said. A poor literacy of Both chambers should agree on the economic agenda early on, and should not keep proposals outside of this agenda, [Roth said].

By removing the restrictions on foreign ownership of Indian tin-rich or mining, public lands and public utilities, the government would widen foreign participation in business and economic growth, he said.

Congress reacted to the regular session Wednesday night.

New Institutions

Spent from the 2011 national budget, the House passed some key legislation, including the CBOA Extension Act of 2011, and the bill directing the election to the International Bureau in Manila this June in 2011.

CMC Breast Care Center

Multi-disciplinary approach to breast diseases

Early detection is the only hope. The earlier and smaller a breast cancer is diagnosed and treated, the better the chance for complete recovery and cure.

A Screening Program is the answer. Screening for breast cancer shows on a yearly basis has been documented to dramatically reduce mortality from breast cancer. The CMC Breast Care Center promotes a Screening Program for its patients.

A multi-disciplinary approach is the way. The CMC Breast Care Center offers a multi-disciplinary approach to the diagnosis, treatment and monitoring of conditions affecting the breast. Backed up by team of expert and experienced professionals in radiology, surgery, gynecology, pathology, oncology and radiologic technology, the center carries modern facilities and state-of-the-art diagnostic equipment for breast cancer detection and management.

Services

- Digital Mammography
- Breast Ultrasound (B-Mode Echography/Thrombography)
- Breast Sonography
- Interventional Procedures (Mammography or Ultrasound-Guided Biopsy, Cyst Aspiration, etc.)
- Breast Cancer Screening Program
- Surgical and Oncologic Management
- Breast Cancer Support Group

MammoDiagnost DR

Moving the most advanced equipment to the center is the Philips MammoDiagnost DR, which features:

- Large full field mammography detector and user-friendly geometry for easy positioning of patients
- DRGOLD: bonded image quality enhancement technology that optimizes areas of varying density and contrast for superior diagnosis of breast anatomy
- The Glass cockpit, a common platform and user interface for more intuitive and efficient workflow of medical technologies

Breast Screening Program

For women 40 years old and above, as well as those with family history of breast cancer and postmenopausal patients, the center is conducting a Screening Program for early breast cancer with a discounted package for early mammography and breast ultrasound. The package also includes a thorough breast physical examination and assistance on how to do a proper breast self-examination.

5 men nabbed in QC drug bust

By Jenine T. Gaud

FIVE men were arrested in a drug raid at a boutique in Quezon City around Thursday midnight, but not before they wounded two of the arresting officers.

The Anti-Illegal Drugs Unit swooped down on the boutique on Calma St. Avenue, Barangay Central, following tips from two drug suspects arrested in a previous operation.

Arrested were Henry Bay Alayano, 29; Edan Justin, 29; Aniel

Arnel Lumbao, 32; all residents of the area, along with Samuel Mendoza, 40, of Binondo Compound in Manila, and Christine Deal Devera, 18, of Barangay Paraiso in Quezon City.

A report from QDS-PJ 10 convinced Police Sgt. Carmelo Mendoza said the men did not go down without a fight.

The suspects began firing at the police men as they approached the boutique. The report said, Senior Police Officer 2 Hilbert Delosua sustained a gunshot wound in the chest, while Police Officer 3 Teodoro Carmona suffered a gunshot wound in the leg.

The unit then called for backup from the Karamayng Station and the QCD SWAT team, who rushed the wounded to the East Avenue Medical Hospital where they remain confined.

Stores near the site and two open, unattended investment plastic markets containing white crystalline granules appeared to be stolen, two bags of aluminum foil with traces of the suspected drug and two disposable lighters were recovered from the suspects.

Still at large are two men only identified as "Lito" and "Mikid." The raiding team said they discovered what they described as "great management" in the boutique business culture from ward by the suspects to escape from their partners.

From Ninoy to Noynoy: 25 Years of the Philippine Daily Inquirer

From Ninoy to Noynoy, 25 years of the Philippine Daily Inquirer marked the last 25 years of Philippine history through the pages, photos, articles and events chronicled in the last quarter century's newspaper of record.

From the traps to the courts, and the many shades in between, the Inquirer's 25th anniversary offering highlights the existence and tension of Filipinos through the warring days of the Marcos dictatorship, the Tandang days of Edsa People Power I, the earthquakes and volcanic eruptions of the early 1990s, the second Edsa People Power at the turn of the century, it ends with beginning, as the spirit of the wonder election of 2010, which opened its founding glasshouse, the nation's 24th president.

Alongside its history of the "Newspaper project," the book is also the story of the Inquirer's growth in these years from a paper founded by a parental engagement ring to a group of over 4,000 publications with a presence in print, broadcast, and on the web.

ENJOY—Dimitris Katsouris has enjoyed the love machine in his flagrant, lustful, lusty, lusty television, and worked at a time to have the Dallas Mavericks' bellwether, his first NBA role in action.

The 32-year-old, 6'10"-tall, made only one of 10 shots in Tuesday's 86-83 Mavericks victory over the Miami Heat but had 10 points in the second half, charged his teammates.

"Everybody at this stage after playing right, since we're on a high level, has something going," Nowitzki said, repeating after practice on Wednesday. "Nobody is completely healthy."

"So it's time to fight through some stuff, and now the game goes, the advantage starts coming. Everybody is out there and giving it their all."

The popularity of the Mavericks' forward, who is averaging 26 points a game in the playoffs and has been unstoppable with the point on the line, is spreading both here and in Dallas.

He ignored the two critics in the middle finger of his left hand to score the winning basket in Game Two of the series, and tied a clutch basket with 14 seconds left on Tuesday to secure victory.

The win on Tuesday moved the best-of-seven series to 2-2, forcing overtime in the last of the Mavericks are ready to end 50 years of frustration.

Sinus infection

Despite sweating on the bench and sitting on the court, Katsouris had a sinus infection and a raised temperature, Nowitzki said. He would come up for Game Five on Thursday.

"I had some sleep and had a good night," he said of what he did to recover following Tuesday's game. "Coach came back, and we were not sure he had a better night."

"I will get a little high temperature, but the fever is basically gone. So I'll be ready by the next morning, always. Anything else, the coffee is the cough, you don't really care about that so long as the fever is gone."

The series will move to Miami for Game Six, and if necessary Game Seven, each of the last three games have been decided by three points or less.

"There's no wonder, maybe, doublets. Both teams have done the same thing—win on each other's court, and lose one game on their home court," Miami coach Erik Spoelstra said.

"It's defensive-minded, it's competitive, it's physical," he said. "It's like being on the open to a heavyweight box."

NOWITZKI: It's time to fight through some stuff.

But that's the way it should be." Nowitzki

Monte Carlo in STA LUCIA Residence

Your Best Choice for Condo Living

Sta. Lucia Land Inc. rears its full blast into the high-rise residential condominium sector with the ground-breaking of its five-story Sta. Lucia Residence project at the Posing City-Corinto corridor.

Sta. Lucia - one of the country's leading and most diversified property developers - ventured in the high-rise city-vertical segment with its successful La Brea Tower in Quezon City, with one of the fastest sales take-up for this kind of project.

Couple this city high-rise development with its unmatched track record in conceptualizing such luxury and leisure development as the Orchard Residential Estate and Golf and Country Club, the Splendido golf and country club in Tagaytay, Club Morocco and other plush properties, and you have a formula for the next hot trend in property which Sta. Lucia has already mastered down the path: the Sta. Lucia Residence.

Leveling Up

The forefront set of steps, even as it were, involved upping our strength in suburban property and leisure development with the Residence offer, says SUI Chairman Enriquez Robles de Baco.

The Sta. Lucia Residence is a masterplanned community composed of five residential towers that is beautifully architected according to the stylistic beauty of the modern class of the Mediterranean. With fine architecture and solid design team of the top-tier W.A. Goodale & Associates led by George W. Goodale, it represents the latest residential high-rise community offering in the Philippines.

The Residence promises to become the most premium address on the eastern side of the Metro when completed, because of its winning features and outstanding amenities. The five-story residential complex will have its own upscale mall with trendy boutiques and other high-end retail establishments to cater to the needs of the unit owners and residents.

Moreover, it will be linked to the Sta. Lucia Mall, one of the country's favorite shopping and entertainment destinations - offering great conveniences on the eastlands of the land commercial developments from leisure, dining, entertainment and full service hotel, store, spa, specialty boutiques, as well as banks, hardware stores, coffee houses, flower shops and specialty stores.

The sophisticated and elegant design of the complex is complemented by country club level amenities that include swimming, tennis, tennis, tennis, swimming pool, gym and fitness facilities and landscaped gardens, some of which are just proposed in other cities across the country.

"Now, everything that the modern day individual or couple in the Metro needs is taken care of," Robles said. "In the modern life of the Metro, no residential development is not to offer outstanding comfort, but a full convenience in the modern life of the Metro."

Make the right choice, Sta. Lucia Residence has these qualities and more. Call us and make the wise move.

For more information, visit www.royalhomes.ph or call 784-1164 or (02)-857-5078.

The Best Property Investment in the East

In the commercial business, there is no substitute for location.

It should be noted that with the high cost of petroleum, location is now an indispensable factor in making smart property investment. Simply speaking, the Posing Corinto corridor is the next hot spot in property development in the Metro.

Located at the east of Posing, Marikina and Corinto, Sta. Lucia Residence offers suburban living and unparalleled accessibility as it is just minutes away from the LRT 2 terminal at Posing, which connects to the EDSA-MRT at Corinto, Quezon City and to the LRT 1 line at Posing. The Posing Corinto Corridor is the next hot spot in property development in the Metro.

Public transport is conveniently available to the university and college belt in Marikina and to the Ortigas Center, business district, and Pasay, Manila, via the very well high schools, hospitals and clinics, and other modern day conveniences are just a walk or short drive away.

Also in the vicinity is the future Sta. Lucia Garden where the Residence will be located. The complex will offer buildings and other commercial establishments to cater Sta. Lucia Corinto, the place to be.

Breaking Ground

Construction of the first tower of the Residence complex, dubbed the Monte Carlo, has begun with soil and foundation works at the site, which is across the Sta. Lucia Mall. The 21-story residential tower offers 208 studio, one-bedroom and two-bedroom units with lower density than the traditional cramped condominiums currently being offered by other developers.

Soon, the upscale mall will be finished as well as the parking, the management will put the first phase of the project at Posing Corinto community for the modern-day homeowner of today. Only time, according to Robles, for the convenience and comfort of the individual and couple looking for a smart place to live.

WHILE REPUTEDLY named and known for their work and hard work," says 2006 Ford Model Supersport of the World Winner Danica Magsaysay.

Though she and her fellow Filipino supermodels, 2005 annual runner-up Charo Banopalis and 2009 first runner-up Chat Anzorres, have been thrust into the spotlight at a very young age (Danica and Chat, now 18, and Charo, now 20), they remain down-to-earth and unaffected by the glitz and glamour of their job.

"Modeling really isn't easy because it's also mentally taxing. You need to have the drive and the passion for it," says Magsaysay.

"Modeling has taught me a lot about what much really entails and about saving money, unlike before when I would only get my money from my parents. Now that I'm earning, I've learned how to handle my own money nicely," she adds.

EPY (left) collection of leather flats has become the current solution to sore feet. The foldable Barefly Tights, which come in small, medium, and large sizes, are handy enough to bring to work, while creating or shopping. Each pair comes with a pouch for the shoes you need to replace.

'Clever' shoes now in python print

HELPFUL WOMEN have taken to heart with Barefly Tights, and the innovative design from the United Kingdom has two new collections—Pink Leather Tights and Python Tights—for its late-arriving season.

Since its launch in November 2008, Barefly Tights, which fold away to fit in to drawers, handbags and even the closet of evening parties, have become a must-have for those in 40s-and-50s, and beyond.

The patented and stylish combination of the classic leather flats has become these women's fashionable and better solution to sore feet, be they at work, traveling, shopping, or during the night away.

Apply defined "Barefly Tights" a line-up, long-lasting process brings down the size of Barefly Tights to a small rectangle shape, making it convenient to carry any day, anywhere.

2011 Kanson Philippines' Education and Parenting Seminar

METRO MANILA – Kanson Philippines is looking to spread Education and Parenting Seminar on June 18, 2011 (Saturday), 10:00 PM at the SM Mall of Asia, Cinema 8. Over the last three years, Kanson has helped plenty of parents "equip their child for academic excellence," "prepare their child for the future," and enable their child to be self-learning and "be their own." This year, participants will learn not only how to get ready and mentally prepare "I am an Achiever!" This year's seminar will focus on learning children's individuality – discovering how a child can be an achiever and more.

The two-hour event will include talks and guest discussion by notable guest speakers. Working Mom's, Educator and Parent Guide Parents will give insights on the different characteristics of children – their learning style, interests, and personality. Parents will also learn about common difficulties and psychological children face in learning. Family Doctors will discuss psychology and life coach, will also share his knowledge on the different parenting styles and how each can help the learning habits of their child.

This seminar is FREE for all parents who wish to learn how they can give their child the best educational experience. To register, visit www.kansonph.com or call 02-881 841-4126.

Unisex scents for you and your man's enjoyment

UNISEX SCENTS are one of the hottest trends around, and I am glad it is clearly but subtly picking up in Manila.

I am a big fan of this kind of scent because it smells clean and crisp. And it is perfect for our weather—nothing too overpowering that will make you sweat or make someone else.

Now, with this type of scent, I don't get any violent reaction from my husband, who is not keen on overly heavy or floral scents.

I like, too, that unisex scents aren't too sticky. There is nothing too strong about unisex scents, so the difference in each person can be more pronounced when it comes to body chemistry. I cannot in place a bigger note. So we need to worry about smelling like your man, or vice versa.

The absence of hyper-feminine or masculine notes makes unisex scents most appealing. For women, the scent can come off as something like chamomile or body oil; for men, it can be something like cedar or sandalwood.

Here are five gift suggestions for Father's Day creations. For men, it becomes aromatic, crisp scent of like fresh laundry, with a slight hint of citrus, and apple notes with a touch of wood and warm wood.

Now, with this type of scent, I don't get any violent reaction from my husband, who is not keen on overly heavy or floral scents.

The character that plays in the most are lemon and orange peel, herbs, jasmine and orange blossom. It's a very refreshing scent that can be enjoyed by everyone—my grandma who's off to play golfing, the husband doing golf, you having dinner, even the kids.

ALVIN SARIN, MANILA PHOTOGRAPHER

While this is a light touch with money, this is a subtle type of scent. I find it the closest smelling scent out there, one that my husband and I also enjoy. It is in his chic golf bag, his car, his office, I love that it comes in a lot of sizes, too, and that it is inside his small carry-on bag when we travel. This is how fresh air should smell like.

A 'blow-dry' that lasts 12 weeks

To do the Brazilian Blowout, Julie and her team use a special type of keratin hair treatment, which the Brazilian Blowout refers to, to get treated and smoothed. Unlike similar treatments, the Brazilian Blowout takes only 90 minutes. No need to wear protective gear or sit in the salon for four hours, as the application is straightforward. Hair is washed in the Brazilian Blowout shampoo, then blow-dried.

The Brazilian Blowout is a professional smoothing treatment, in the same family as keratin treatments, but fortified with a Brazilian super protein complex full of arginine, leucine, carnitine, biotin, and vitamins. After the solution is applied on the hair, it is dried with an iron at 450 degrees and sealed in, so the complex is locked in.

For those concerned about formaldehyde, Brazilian Blowout doesn't contain the chemical. "You can tell the difference when the hair is dried and there is no smell in the room."

The treatment also locks out the hair and seal in the gaps and technology used by chemical treatments, without changing the texture of the hair. It is not a smoothing treatment. Since the hair catches moisture out, the hair appears shiny. "My curly hair does not become straight, but bouncy. My hair becomes smooth and manageable."

The treatment lasts as long as 12 weeks and has a cumulative effect—the more you use it, the closer the hair will be to its long run. The one-time treatment saves you time and money from getting blow-dried every time you wash your hair.

Web and more

It's literally the work and wear of color that I have been looking for. My run of the show with wet hair and let it air dry and a few minutes later it looks as if you stepped out of the salon. Unlike other treatments, you can make your hair as soon as you want, no chemicals and no restrictions. You can be your hair in 90 minutes, and there will be no chemical damage to the hair.

The treatment seals the hair so it's all possible in that it's a protective barrier. When the treatment has washed out, the hair will lose some of the moisture and go back to what it once or less looked like before the treatment—no re-growth or any strange hair changes.

A fantastic product with beautiful results, the Brazilian Blowout has a lot of all-star clients. It's a great way to keep your hair healthy, and it's a great way to keep your hair healthy.

An unlikely new bestfriend at home

When power outages ensue due to calamities, it pays to have batteries within reach

By Kenneth H. de la Cruz

BATTERIES AT home are as important as a household item as your favorite kitchen utensils. It's easy to neglect working up on batteries at home, but should disaster strike and power outages ensue, having a handy pack of batteries can make the difference.

Many consumers tend to be lax about disaster when it comes to having batteries, but it is necessary for them to be informed and be prepared in case of an emergency to buy and use their devices.

Long before the advent of rechargeable batteries, most of the staples of society among consumers and in homes were battery-powered. It was only later that portable electronic equipment that only rely on battery power.

Many times, using rechargeable batteries is more practical as it saves on cost of other items buying new or disposable batteries are not over again.

A very common power pack that can be carried anywhere and used for the longest time is the AA battery. These leads us to not worry about having energy during emergency situations such as a disaster because having battery-powered devices is essential.

The AA battery pack is a great and useful source of energy for electronic equipment. The compact, size and portability, battery-powered and simply making battery-powered items more and less expensive.

From June 1 to 30

After the recent graduation season, and a much needed summer break, a whole new crop of college grads are now ready to enter the corporate world.

And after carefully preparing your resume and planning your possible career path, it's now time to make that transition in style with clothes that work by Redhead at SM.

First impressions, after all, are lasting, and whether you are headed for a job interview, will be meeting your colleagues for the first time, or are about to embark on your first assignment, make sure your clothes show you as you really are - young, smart, and ready to take the challenges of the working world.

The Redhead collection has brightly colored pieces - blazers, dress shirts, and trousers and mix perfectly with traditional boardroom black. Mix it with a touch of urban styling to give it that contemporary flair.

The Redhead collection is available at the Girls Teens Department of all SM stores.

Orange and blue color blocking brings a young and fun-filled-to-work persona dressing.

Have wings, will take off

By Naomi S. S. Chang et al.

At GITEF at Tony del Monaco's home in the neighborhood of "Miraflores on Miraflores" (La Miraflores), "Barrio El Miraflores," "Beginning Third World," among others, no mainstream producers wanted to touch his sex-and-film-as-director, "Exploited by Angkor."

Del Monaco, however, "I submitted the screenplay to a major studio. I don't think it even made five base, I guess because it's not a genre movie and would be expensive because of the required special effects."

But as an actor filmmaker, he has learned that persistence pays off. "If you believe in your work, you should make your movies."

Unilever production

The debut film, "Dagot AYYA," was best placed in the first CinemaSud. Five years after last, "Ayahel" takes flight, with a 10th-birth-hour film. The military producer, Le Laik, currently where Dagot AYYA is a soldier. "They gave me a free hand as long as I kept in the 12 minute budget," he says, describing Le Laik's involvement in "Dagot AYYA."

It was an "ambitious" project, Giallombardo admits, and wouldn't have been possible "without the help of friends" — particularly the cinematographers, production designer, online music and sound experts, and actors Rick Berman and Scottie Dincer.

He treated the first set of "building publicity speeches," he says, some of the actors as his former students and many of them (Oli Luetke, Joel Turtel, L.J. Williams, Amy Quinn, Christian Mueser, Stephanie Horowitz) as La Salle graduates. He did not omit Emma La Sullivan — Broadway's Miller Rosenberg, actress Bruce King and Shogun star Amber Lynn and Tiana Turner — to do so, either. After all, the film is part of One La Salle Scholarship Fund project, the school's centennial campaign to raise $1 billion for 30,000 scholarships.

About providers

Finally, the film captures goodness, the Mando-isms, as inspired by a real-life incident related by the late journalist Machel (played by a young helping-a-riping haggag). "It's shameless to help a poor life (Mach's friend) and grow a pair of wings. He is a good person who doesn't like showing off." Unfortunately, a reporter goes viral at the subject's name. And here the writer makes a subtle criticism of media.

"Stack of hand-free TV programming is predicted on entertainment," said Warner execs. "Where his reruns have become news, along with the RV life and fish life. This did not happen overnight. Network executives such as cultivated the changes for the kind of entertainment. The media have developed content as consumers for seasonal series, film libraries, consolidated media presence."

Graded 4 by the Ontario Production Board, "Suppld" premises of the HM Mall of Nanaimo located on Seaside, Zone 11, as part of the Seller's commercial real estate.

Long-term goals

Cheney, who turned 30 last month, made her birthday list with 100 unachieved goals.
All very much a young girl at heart, she said, "I go to dance with my sister in the Philippines, [sister] Kate Miley."

As for her long-term goals, Cheney said, "That is now I don't live in show business, I would love to be a lawyer." Mayfield "If I become more successful [in] show business, I want to be a [show] business lawyer."

When we prodded her to share what the dream of achieving her goals from now, she paused and then said, "Maybe because a Grammy who

 "I'm really enjoying going up without TV. I remember going downtown in Atlanta during the 1980s, and there was no TV. I was like, 'I want to see a TV!' And the staff was like, 'You can't have a TV!' And the staff was like, 'You can't have a TV!'"

Travel helped shape young star's fashion sense

YOUNG ACTRESS Renee Zamora says travel helped shape her fashion sense. Growing up in Cebu, she was a French teacher and a Filipino Model. She moved to the Philippines when she was 6. When she turned 11, she went to live in Singapore and stayed there for a year. Then they lived in Thailand for two years. Green went on to become a teacher's assistant/Student teacher for six months, before heading back to Australia. There she started her night modeling. She's based in Manila now. "When I was younger, my mom would send me to France every summer," she told Living Stars during a visit to her Manila condo. "When I came home, I'd look really different—brown modeling back. Film and music studies in Manila, and it has been very useful. I still keep my first iPad. My parents gave it to me when we were living in Singapore. After I got good grades and graduated with honors, I got my first iPad for myself. I use it during classes for games, tracking down my schedule, everything.

I have two BlackBerry phones: it's my family and my first BlackBerry Messenger. I have a lot of friends abroad who are into BBM, so, those my dad and I are using BBM.

I bought an Olympia underwear camera from my cousin. I like taking pictures but I see no point in getting it, so my cousin gave it to me. The Olympia is good enough for taking selfies.

Books

The book "21st Century Art Appreciation" was a gift from David when I worked as a teacher's assistant. I received those books in class.

"Champion's Dictionary of the Creative Business" is a dictionary about film. It's very useful because I like reading about directors and technicians.

I made David Godin's "The Art of the Book" from my cousin. I want to read it because it teaches telling me it's the last book that Godin has written.

"The Art of the Book" When I have friends over, we really get into games. My dad brings me my own camera, wondering why we're all watching.

An advice to girls my age: Don't treat two books make-up. It takes away your natural beauty. You don't need to spend that much, or that. There are good books that are best.

Paintings

I started painting in 2000. The first I have been in Manila on old ones. I have a story and some pictures in Thailand. They are probably as big as the wall in my bed
